

DR. PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder

The difference of cost between a good and a poor baking powder would not amount for a family's supply to one dollar a year. The poor powder would cause doctors' bills many times this.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is the most economical in the end, because it goes further in leavening and insures perfect, wholesome food.

Used always in making the biscuit and cake it saves both health and money. Made from pure, grape cream of tartar, most healthful of fruit acids.

PRICE BAKING POWDER CO.,
CHICAGO.

NOTE.—You cannot, if you value good health, afford to use cheap, low-grade baking powders. They are mostly, in spite of the pure food laws, made from alum, which endangers the health. All physicians will tell you that such powders in food are injurious.

By Will Ward Mitchell.

She was scrawny, she was skinny, and she had a dreadful tongue. She was forty-five or fifty, though she posed herself as young. Her face was full of wrinkles as her heart was full of sin. For she envied maidens younger, and "despised" the hateful men. She was full of foulness as an egg is full of meat. Her religion passed as orthodox—personal conceit. She was anxious to get married, but somehow she never had. A fact for which all living men should be devoutly glad. She detested little children and affected thomas-eats. She held that "puppy poodles" were more likable than "brats." She tried to be aesthetic, but she didn't know the way. And she had a shabby pedigree, the folks who know her say. She made herself detestable and no one was to blame. She had the girls of seventeen—it really was a shame. She talked as though her "papa" had a million "pinks" or so. But the people helped to plant him, when he journeyed down, you know. She wrinkled still and scrawny, and she still pretends to be. A representative black-blood of the aristocracy. But everybody knows her, and nobody bothered to care. Becomes a quite self-evident she has no brains to spare.

Quaint, Queer and Curious Salt Lake City.

The late Col. John Cockrell in The Cosmopolitan said, "There are three unique cities in America, and one of these is Salt Lake City." It is not only unique in its temple, tabernacle and other Mormon church institutions, but quaint in appearance, with its wide streets, lamene blocks and martial rows of shade trees. It has, perhaps, more attractions to the square yard than any city in the country, and its climate, while temperate all the year round, is particularly delightful in summer. The Great Salt Lake, with its magnificent salt air resort, where the water is "deader and denser" than that in the Dead Sea in Palestine, is an attraction in itself that people come miles to see. There are many cool mountain and lake resorts near by, also numerous very pretty canon and park drives, and hot sulphur springs. Fishing and hunting can be had in every Wasted muscles and decaying bones. What havoc! Scrofula, let alone, is capable of all that, and more. It is commonly marked by bunches in the neck, inflammations in the eyes, dyspepsia, catarrh, and general debility. It is always radically and permanently cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Hood's Pills cure liver and bile, the most important and only cathartics to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Odesa Oracle: Miss Jessie Miller, daughter of H. A. Miller, starts for Chillicothe next week, where she has two years' schooling willed her by an aunt who died about a year ago in Pennsylvania.

Warrensburg Democrat: Possibly from fear of the Lexington chicken thieves fate, some person who took two fryers from a Warrensburg merchant, sent him a letter enclosing their price, fifty-three cents.

Corder Bee: The Corder Creamery captured second prize at the state fair, it making a score of 95%. Colonel Helms is the best butter maker in the state, but some way or another the other fellow outpointed him this time.

Judge Sanborn, of the United States court of appeals, has rendered a decision that the St. Clair county judges will have to remain in jail for contempt of court. An appeal for pardon will be made to President Roosevelt.

Miami News: Last Tuesday a mail bag which was kicked off the fast train was cut in two by the wheels. The only thing injured was a package containing the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Evidently Providence had something to do with that.

All reports are favorable as to the Baker system of preserving fruits for shipment without ice. Colorado melons and Arkansas peaches are arriving daily in Kansas City in perfect flavor by the use of this inexpensive system. It is one of the most important of recent discoveries, if the tests have been fair.

The Holloway trio of high-wire acrobats, who are engaged with Ringling Brothers' World's Greatest Shows this season, were the reigning sensation of London last winter. These great artists perform acrobatic feats in mid air, and upon thin wire, that many clever acrobats hesitate to attempt on the solid ground. There is no other act like it in the world.

A copy of the Manila Freedom of July 24th has been received at this office giving a detailed account of the trial of Lieut. Edwin A. Hickman. From the testimony it appears that the Filipinos who were reported to have died from the water cure were not injured at all. Col. Smith, to whose command Lieut. Hickman belonged, testified that the whole thing was trumped up by Major Gardner, an officer with whom Hickman was not on friendly terms.

Odesa Oracle: The outlook for a big time in Odesa on September 10-13 is daily growing, and if you don't want to miss the biggest thing out of doors in the way of a street fair, you should attend—and attend every day. Each department is in the hands of competent gentlemen, who will take it as a favor for any one to consult with them about anything in connection with their department—answering questions and otherwise directing the affairs as to redound to the interests of all concerned, and of the upbuilding of Odesa in particular.

ROUINE BALLET.

Ringling Bros. introduce the Most Brilliant Horse Spectacle Ever Seen.

An equine ballet militant—that is what Ringling Brothers' new horse spectacle has been called, but no mere title can give an adequate conception of the imposing beauty and thrilling magnitude of this great act. One naturally expects to see fine horses in the circus, but these horses are the absolute perfection of breeding and selection. In the equine ballet there are three divisions, the first composed of Barbary horses, black and glossy as shining ebony; the second, of pure white Arabians, and the third composed of a troupe of creamy yellow American horses, with superb mane and white, flaring tail. Each of these horses has a skilled rider, whose costume is in harmony with the gorgeous trappings of the superb animal kept perfectly under control. These costumes and trappings, indeed, add immeasurably to the beauty of the picture. The color scheme for the proudly stepping blooded Barbary horses and their riders is black and red—brilliant black plush and silk, with nodding plumes of richest red, touched here and there with dazzling gold—a combination as beautiful as an artist's dream. Fifty trumpeters take their positions on the elevated stages, and as they sound a crashing fanfare, the curtains part and the platoons of black, white and yellow horses appear, directed by their skilled and gorgeously-costumed riders—plumes nodding, ribbons flying—all keeping time to the exhilarating music of the trumpeters. To the right, to the left, pirouetting, waltzing, marching, now forming statues and again circling in swiftest dance step like whirling streams of rainbow-color, they constitute a spectacle so thrilling, so classically harmonious, that the senses seem intoxicated with a new sense of beauty. A striking climax is reached when the entire company of horses advance to the center of the ring, and kneeling, allow their riders to dismount. The riders remount, the music changes once more, they enter upon a series of graceful figures, in which garlands, used as floral arches, are cleverly utilized to form the most effective and beautiful pictures—the whole culminating in one vast equine tableau vivant—the most gorgeously effective scene spectacle that human eyes have ever looked upon. This great production will be seen with hundreds of other great features when Ringling Bros.' famous circus exhibits in Lexington Thursday, September 18th.

1-11ml W. A. DAVIS.

Odesa Democrat: We publish this week the premium list of our big street fair. The city will be given up to the visitors and we shall try to make everyone have a good time. Besides the exhibits and stock shows, there will be good music on the streets all the time, lots of free entertainments, acrobats, double trapeze performances, wire walkers, a high diver who will dive 65 feet into a tank of water, a one legged man who will ride down a 25 foot stairway on a bicycle, contortionists, and other free attractions. There will be the Midway which will be unusually good this year. Everything possible has been done this year to secure the best attractions and all kinds of gambling has been barred from the city. Odesa invites you to come and bring all your family and friends and have a good time. If you have anything that you think is extra good, or just plain good from an ear of corn to a fat baby try for one of the premiums.

TEETHINA

(TEETHING POWDERS)

Dr. J. W. Berry (of Arkansas Methodist Conference, witness) "Enclosed find fifty cents for which please mail me two packages of 'TEETHINA.' We wonder how we have raised children without it. The other day a lady in Elm Street sent me a package and it came as a most opportune time; our babe was in a serious condition. His bowels and perfect relief and he has had no further trouble. Other members of the family have used it and every one has been a perfect success."
